Mrs. alone;

I have really enjoyed your class this year, even if you did mistake me for Kenneth. It's also the first time I have ever made an A in English. I hope you get students of equal ability and caliber as your fourth period class in the years to come... May you get the best out of life,

Your devoted student,

Septembers Are Inevitable

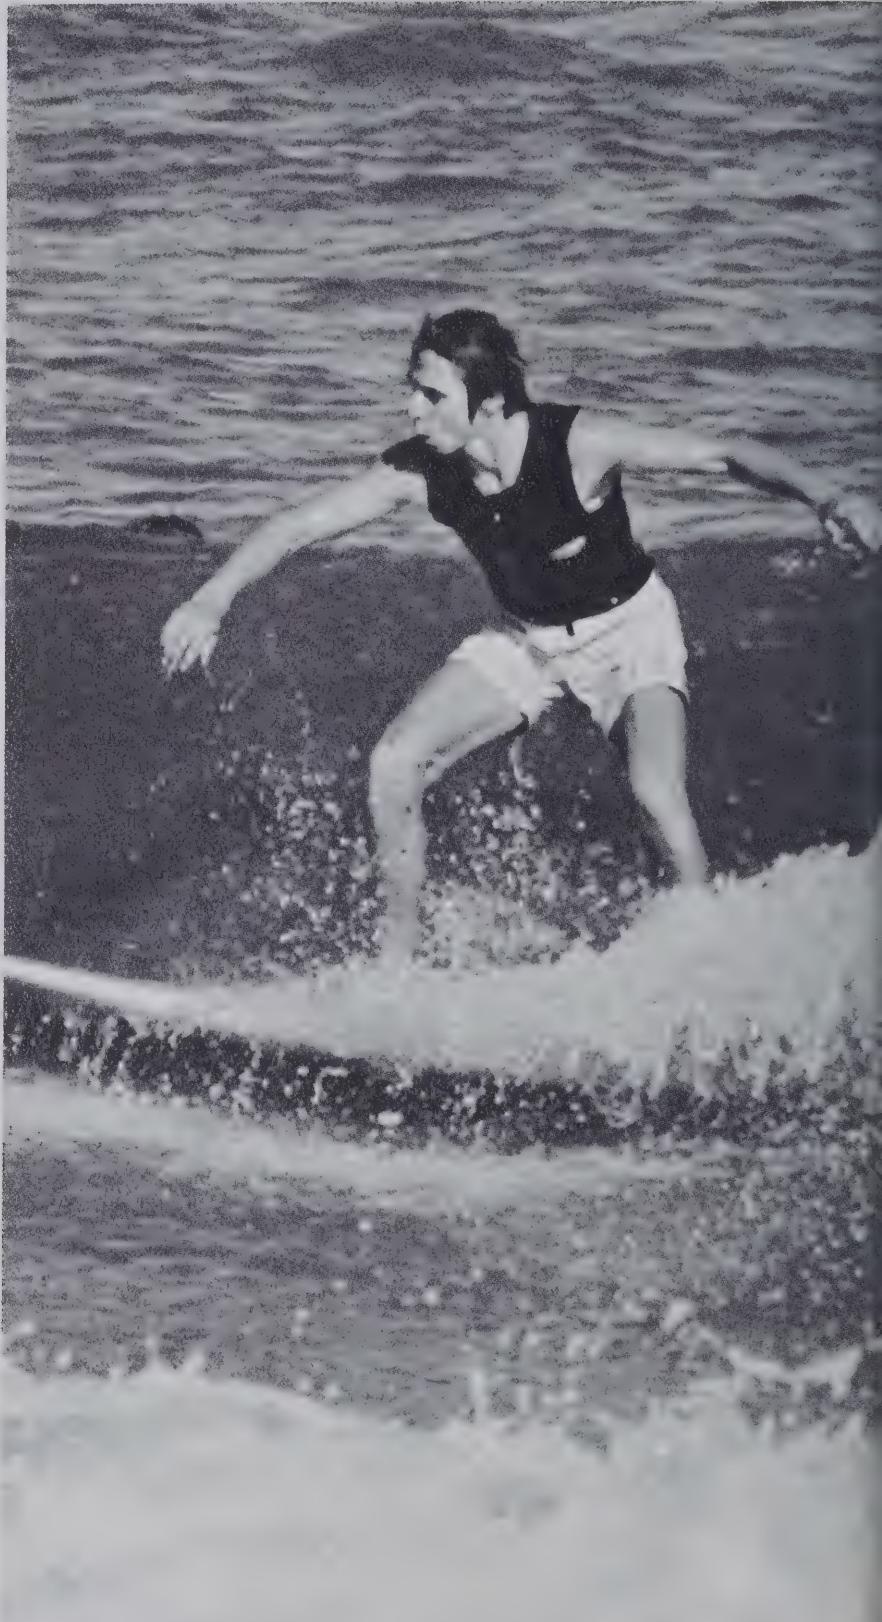

Those "lazy, hazy, crazy days of summer" faded into fond memories as once more the halls of New Hanover High School welcomed back their own. Scurrying feet, excited inquiries by sophomores, the seasoned smile of the juniors, those two-year veterans of the senior class—all together arouse the classrooms of New Hanover from their summer dormancy. Getting accustomed to new teachers, new courses, new classmates, and most of all the new split schedule took time; however, the 2,150 students who composed the student body of New Hanover soon settled down and earnestly started the school year.

Less than a month after the first day of school, the Wildcats struck another blow for school spirit and unity as they cheered their team on to victory on the night of October 3—the defeat of Hoggard by New Hanover on the 'ole grid-iron.

And then there was Homecoming . . .

A lonely pier—the end of summer.

That last big wave!

Hundreds of "Wildcats" cheer their team on to victory over JTHHS.

Happiness Is A NHHS Homecoming

Sneaker Day.

By late October, students were ready for a spirited change of pace. Homecoming provided the opportunity. Activities in preparation for the Friday night game included a parade, "Sneaker Day", and a pep rally. Despite a disappointing loss to the Golden Bulls of E. E. Smith, the weekend ended on a happy note with the Homecoming Dance, a resounding success.

NHHS Majorettes lead the way for the Homecoming Parade down Front Street.

Senior girls elected to the Homecoming Court were Mary Huband, Willa Gupton, Susan Foreman, Dottie Kelly (Maid of Honor), Pam Powell, Claudia Horrell, Ellen Stanley, Diane Tucker and Brenda Franks.

Student Life Moves Into Full Swing

Fall marked a period of adjustment as students settled down into the routine of school life. The active student, however, found many activities available for his interest and participation.

An apathetic student body seemed suddenly to come to life during student body elections. For the first time in many years, victory hinged on more than a personality contest. Many students joined in spirited campaigns for their candidate and his platform.

Another new aspect of student life emerged in the form of concerts by well-known performers. Gary Puckett and the Union Gap, Jerry Butler, the Brooklyn Bridge, the Fourt Seasons and B. J. Thomas all presented well-attended concerts in the Wilmington area.

Steve Vosnock, Billy Gentry, Danielle Ports, Bill Calder and Liz Buffington (?) take advantage of "Grub Day."

Extremely cold temperatures, with a low two days of 13°, confronted students as they began school following the Christmas holidays. Of course, mid-term exams loomed in the foreground. However, on January 23, the ordeals were over and the student body had a glorious holiday in two and one half inches of snow, which most opportunely covered the Port City.

Second semester opened and students, especially seniors, began the countdown; 90 more days—89—88—87—Shivering together in the February cold during numerous bomb scares seemingly brought students and faculty closer together.

Various Senate members and students encircle the flagpole with a "School Spirit Picket Line."

Jeff Plumer, Tonya Johnson, Rodney Canty, Norman Taylor, Pat Rhodes and Don Spain lead the student body in a rousing cheer.

Festive Activities Create Enthusiasm

February brought Saint Valentine to visit the halls of Hanover while Frank Brown and Brenda Franks reigned as Valentine King and Queen at the climactic dance on February 21st.

Moving along into the spring, activities increased at almost alarming rates. The newly formed Azalea Festival Youth Committee began plans to make the "young thing" in the 1970 Azalea Festival the really "in-thing."

Excitement began to rise in the ranks of the Senior Class as the time came for the measuring of caps and gowns and for making plans concerning that all-important event—Senior Week. Juniors ordered their coveted class rings and sophomores looked forward to the end of a long first year in high school.

Concerts . . . a pageant . . . that "special date" . . . the last six weeks . . . a rash of "flower children" . . . the smell of surf—all symbols of spring.

Girls Chosen To Represent Spirit Of Spring

All of the anticipation that seems to characterize spring came to a climax with the May Dance. Although a May pole and other traditional English festivities are not a part of the May Day celebration here at NHHS, students look forward throughout the year to their own traditional dance and the revelation of the May Court.

Pam Powell served as May Queen, attended by Diane Tucker, Maid of Honor. Class representatives were Diane Vereen, Willa Gupton, Libby Weaver, Margie Croom, Mebane Baird and Jennifer Jones.

The Social Marshals, who sponsored the dance, held bake sales to help finance their project. Decorations in the Student Union set a romantic background for the presentation of the May Court.

Cabinet Helps Develop Successful School Year

Hartford Boykin gives oath of office to Betty Ann Palmer, Ann Allen, Marlene Shain, Russell Fales, Cassandra Newkirk, and Carol Lennon.

Hartford Boykin conducted ceremonies for the induction of Cabinet members following a short pep rally.

The Cabinet sold mums for the Valentine Dance, which featured the "Calico". They were also responsible for planting the two cherry trees on the front lawn. Roger Woods, secretary of grounds and parks, decorated the goal posts for all of the home football games.

Bob Spencer, Sparky Rowley, Richard Hutchens, John Simone, and Richard Wheeler receive mums from Cabinet officials Marlene Shain and Ann Allen.

House And Senate Pass

Julie Spivey presents Senior Class President Cassandra Newkirk with the chain link plaque.

Melody Shipton and Walter Futch review STARC bill for final adjustments.

Mrs. Usrey and Keith Calder congratulate each other on winning the "Orange and Black Day" plaque presented by the Senate.

Promoting school spirit and fostering projects to unify the student body again held major interest of the senate. As specials, senators sponsored orange and black-, grub-, and dress-up-days, awarding a plaque to the student wearing the outstanding outfit of the day. To further encourage spirit, a "pride chain" made of paper links and costing a nickel a link stimulated students along with three mornings of picketing with signs such as "WILDCATS ARE THE GREATEST" and "DOWN WITH APATHY, UP WITH SCHOOL SPIRIT."

Fifty-one House members including class vice-presidents and secretaries representing the student body worked diligently on making revisions and amendments in our Constitution, an act which has not been achieved in several years. They altered judicial rules and methods of electing marshals. Also, House members invited concerned students to come to meetings and voice their sentiments on school issues.

Judiciaries shared the responsibility of governing pedestrian traffic throughout the campus. They patrolled during class changes and brought student court action against all alleged violators. Each homeroom elected one person to represent them on the judicial marshal staff. A joint session of Student Congress appointed the following judges: seniors, Kathy White, Hartford Boykin, and Tom Sawyer; juniors, Camilla Herlevich and Neill Currie; and sophomore Bruce Watkins.

Homeroom chairmen offered students a chance to benefit both their classes and themselves. Sophomores sold the traditional Wildcat Mugs. Once again junior chairmen sponsored the Junior-Senior Prom. The junior class held several car washes, bake sales, and candy sales with which to earn money for dancing entertainment. In the spring senior chairmen sold calling cards and sponsored Senior Week.

Chairmen Sponsor Fund-Raising Campaigns

Social Marshals Sponsor Valentine Dance

Throughout the year, social marshals ushered at New Hanover High School functions—such as, Parent-Student-Teacher Association, Band and Hanover Singers Concerts. In keeping with the Christmas spirit, the group purchased and decorated a Christmas tree for the main lobby of the school.

During February the Social Marshals sponsored the annual Valentine Dance with music provided by the "Calico". Making her formal presentation at the May Dance, sponsored by the social marshals was the May Queen, Pam Powell, and her court.

Publications Change Printing Methods

Under the overall direction of the steering committee, Julie Spivey and her associates on the Orange and Black Handbook, provided newcomers and returning students alike a concise introduction to New Hanover High School. Meeting several times throughout the summer, this committee compiled the text with the cover designed by Susan Davis.

Employing a new system of photographic printing, the members of the Telephone Directory Committee met many times in the fall to assemble, alphabetize, and type the information obtained by visiting homerooms and procuring information from the individual students. To eliminate any possibility of error in the final copy, members carefully reviewed the proof before its printing.

Mary Scott, Mary Huband, Kathy Key, and Martha Frye handle the overall distribution and sales of the Telephone Directory.

Under the advisorship of Mrs. Elizabeth Lane, the Wildcat staff, consisting of eleven different editors and assistants, published ten issues of the school paper this year. Once again, the Wildcat retained its First-Honor rating in the criticisms it entered.

Class members published a School Page monthly in the Star News as a journalism project. To meet their budget, they sold ads and subscriptions. They also wrote for and participated in the broadcasting of a weekly NHHS Saturday radio program under the advisoryship of Mr. Kenneth Stanley.

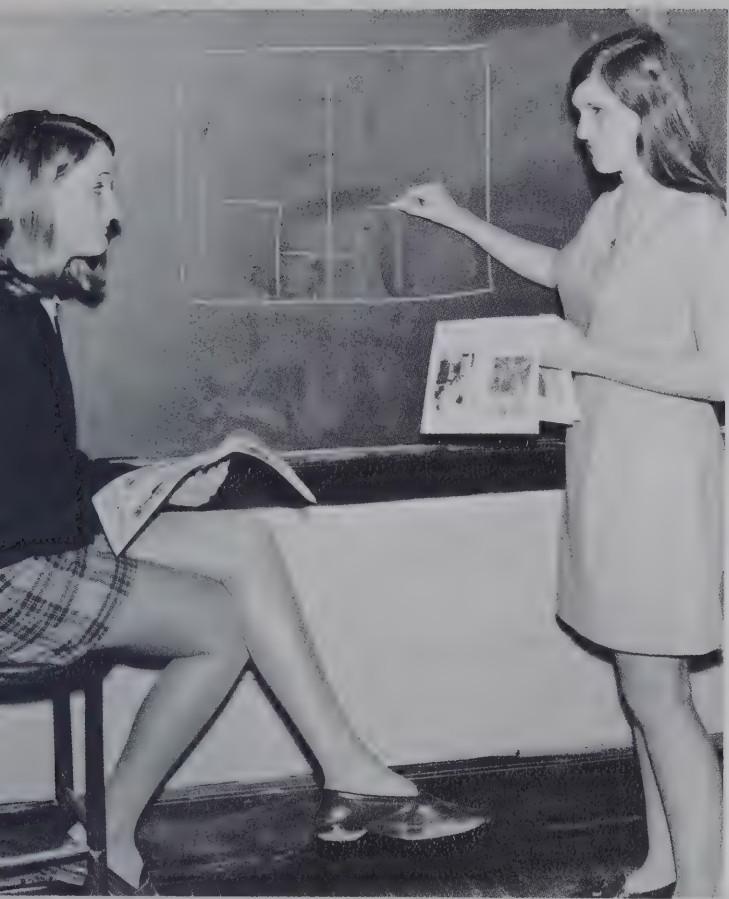

Mailing issues of the school paper to many schools all over the United States is the job of Alice Pearsall, exchange editor for the Wildcat.

Margie Croom writes a story for the Wildcat, while Beth Kelly makes an ad sale over the telephone.

National Thespians Exhibit

Tim Wessner, accompanied by Ed Danilowicz, Susan Davis, Rosalie Conrad, David Warshauer, and Steve Vallender carry props to a moving van.

Jere Hodgin, Thespian advisor, gives a lecture to Tim Wessner, Susan Davis, Steve Vallender, and Ed Danilowicz.

In the Glass Menagerie, Act II, Emily Blanton, as Amanda, commands the attention of the Wingfield family, and Jim, their guest.

Theatrical Proficiency

Tim Wessner applies make-up on Susan Davis, while Becky Hawkins sets her hair.

Under the leadership of Debra Arntsen and Mr. Jere Hodgin, advisor, the Thespians of Hanover brought to life three productions. Before Thanksgiving they presented "The Glass Menagerie" in the old auditorium and in February "The Suicide" and "Zoo Story" at Campbell College in the district competitions. Twenty-five members met bi-monthly, enjoying the work of preparation, production and performance involved in dramatics.

Rehearsing for The Zoo Story, Ed Danilowicz relates to Steve Vallender, telling him of the basic human need to communicate.

Susan Davis, Liz Buffington, and Ed Danilowicz improve the indoor scenery, as Rich Buffington prepares for the light setting, aided by Cathy Lazardes.

Steve Vallender quotes from the play The Glass Menagerie, "I have things in my pocket; I have tricks up my sleeve."

Hanover Singers Perform For Foreign Students

Fifty-eight members of Hanover Singers met each day at sixth period to learn and practice new songs for their performances. Some of these performances included singing for the Lions and Kiwanis Clubs, Jim Burns Show, PSTA, and for the International Exchange Students.

Twenty-three students attended State Chorus in Greensboro on April fifteenth through the seventeenth.

Bill Tucker, Kenneth Duke and Stanley Williamson add finishing touches to the scenery for the Christmas concert.

Practicing after lunch are Gale Washington, Carol Lennon, Tonya Johnson, Kenneth Duke, Bill Tucker, Laura Sullivan, Dottie Price, Jim Tubbs and Trent Watts.

Christmas Music

Bottom Row: M. Reid, B. Gentry, E. Fincannon, C. Stanley. Second Row: G. Frazier, G. Lancaster, M. Walden, J. Henderson, C. Russ, T. Nifong, B. Atkinson. Top Row: J. Noble, C. Green, C. Staton, and B. Tucker.

Music filled the air at Christmas as the Girls' Chorus, Ensemble and Boys' Chorus exhibited their musical talent. Under the direction of Mrs. Jane Price these groups presented a splendid program. In addition, the Ensemble has performed at Grace Methodist Church, for the Lions Club, at the Boucan Room for GE Executives and before the student body. This year Girls' Chorus numbers eighty girls which makes this the largest enrollment since its organization.

First Row: E. Fincannon, M. Reid, B. Gentry, G. Lancaster. Second Row: L. Briggs, G. Frazier, C. Russ, J. Henderson. Third Row: C. Stanley, M. Walden, J. Noble, D. Atkinson, C. Staton.

Band Concert

The Symphonic Band begins the Christmas concert with a familiar carol.

First Row: S. Green and Mr. McAdams. Second Row: H. Brunson, R. Green, T. Cayton and J. Walker. Third Row: S. Slappy, J. Robinson, J. Suell, T. Ferguson.

The Concert Band performed with unity and ease at the Christmas concert.

At the Christmas Parade NHHS band members stood out from all others with their new Buckingham Palace Guard style uniforms. Another renovation has been the band's re-organization into five different sections, which include marching, symphonic, concert, beginning and dance bands. The symphonic band and the concert band presented an excellent program at Christmas. The beginning band, composed of sophomores, does not perform publicly. It is strictly a training group for the concert and symphonic bands.

Practice after school improves Jennifer Jones, Melodie Shipton, and Betty Blackburn.

Majorettes Exhibit Digital Dexterity

New orange uniforms embellished the New Hanover majorettes this year. The uniforms consisted of an orange vest over a scooter skirt, worn with a white blouse with knee socks to match. Under the direction of Lynne Boone, head majorette, the group performed at football games and marched in the Homecoming, Christmas, Veterans' Day, and Azalea Festival parades. Aside from the usual bump and grind, remaining majorettes Melodie Shipton, Betty Blackburn, and Jennifer Jones did much to arouse spirit in the Wildcat tradition by wearing their uniforms on game days.

Majorettes Melodie Shipton, Betty Blackburn, Jennifer Jones, and Lynne Boone show perfect symmetry as they warm up before the parade.

Diane Lee, Becky Weathers, Pam Jarrell, Libby Weaver, Ralph Coley, and Gwen Creech perform on the School Spirit Club Homecoming float.

School Spirit Club Sponsors Sneaker Day

Susan White, Gene Long, Dottie Newber, Diane Tucker, and Pam Parker decorate band-aids for band-aid day.

Jim Wishon, who won the band-aid contest, buys a band-aid from Claudia Horrell, president of the School Spirit Club.

Apathy, dissipator of the verve and dash Wildcats are known for, was dealt an overwhelming blow this year by members of the School Spirit Club. During a mid-year drive, club participants sold bandaids with catchy slogans and sponsored a sneaker day and a dress up day to nurture the already boosted spirit.

The student who wore the most bandaids received a plaque at the annual pep rally. Winner of this coveted accolade was junior Jim Wishon. Original ideas and diligent effort raised the voice of Wildcat spirit from raucous discontent to unified rapture.

Pam Jarrell, Diane Vereen, Nancy Pollard, Becky Weathers, and Betty Ann Palmer paint a "Clobber New Bern" sign while Ralph Coley and Anthony Dawkins paint a sportsmanship week sign.

Varsity Lettermen Work For Whirlpool

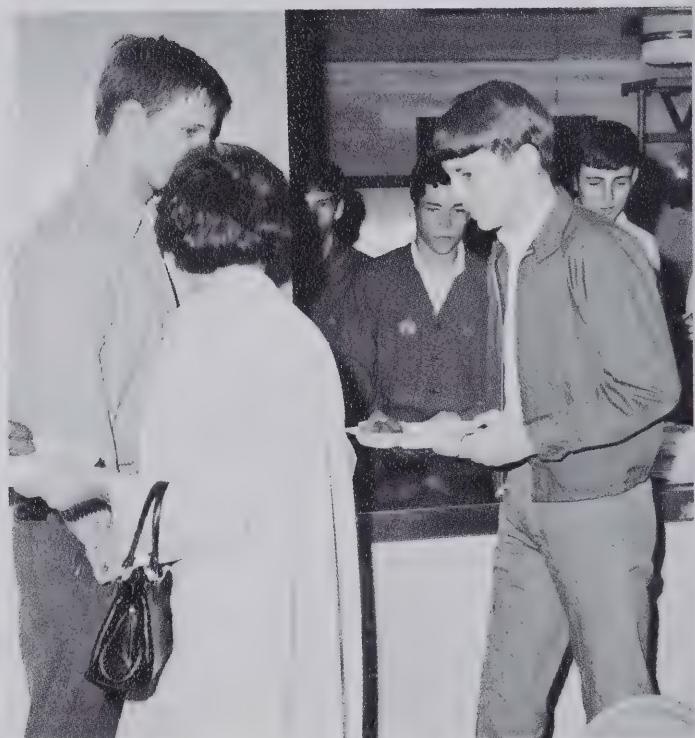

Norman Brooks and Mike Merritt sell score cards at a basketball game in Brogden Hall.

Many projects organized by the Varsity Lettermen helped to raise money toward the purchase of a whirlpool bath for the gym. Workers helped at the concession stands at all the sports events in Brogden Hall. Prior to the Hoggard-New Hanover basketball game on February 3, the Lettermen had a Bar-B-Que supper in the Student Union. At each basketball game they sold score cards. By selling popcorn and drinks in the stands at a few of the basketball games and by selling programs for the basketball "Holiday Tournament," the Lettermen's Club neared their goal—the whirlpool bath.

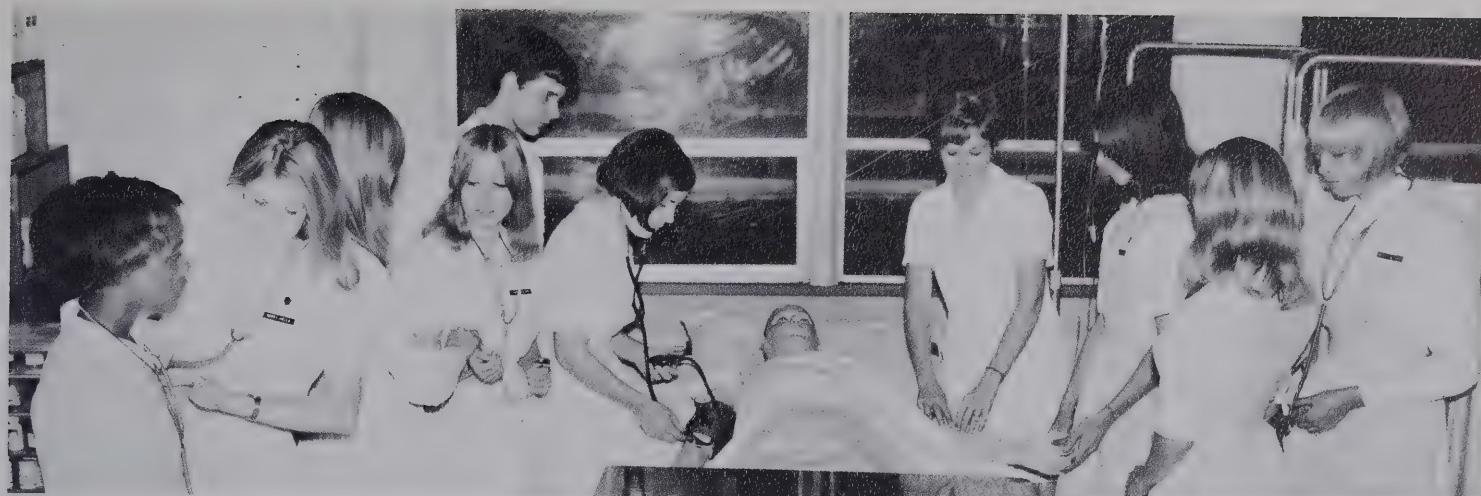

Lisa Chadwick, Mrs. Rosalyn Lomax, Claudia Horrell, Libby Weaver, Becky Weathers, Fred Lomax, Diane Vereen, and Cindy Horrell enjoy a tasty barbecue supper sponsored by the Lettermen Club prior to the Hoggard-New Hanover basketball game.

Varsity Lettermen Bill Calder and Sonny Wells serve the hungry customers a mouth-watering barbecue dinner while Jim Wishon comes to help.

Those who are thirsty let Henry Paula, Howie Edgerton, Jay Talbert, Bill Godwin and John McCorsely quench their thirst.

Mamie Nixon, Gerri Wells, Juanita Frink, Pam Clark, Jim Tubbs, Kathy Barnhill, Mrs. Garrett, Juddye Pulaski, Sheila Wright and Patsy Roberts practice using Stethoscopes during class.

Health Occupations Explore Doctors' Offices

Students enrolled in Health Occupations now work in doctors' offices as well as the hospital. In the private offices they have more direct contact with the patient. For example, they help to hold patients when doctors administer needles. At the hospital, students in physical therapy learn to apply hot packs to patients. Their classroom has an area similar to a hospital room, equipped with a bed, screen, stethoscopes and syringes. Members of the class publish a weekly newspaper giving a report of their hospital work.

While working at New Hanover Memorial Hospital, Stanley Williamson explains pill content to Juddye Pulaski and Mrs. Lola Rivenbark.

Delores Williams demonstrates the method of sterilizing equipment.

Gerri Wells explains the function of the heart to students in Health Occupations.

Pep Band Promotes School Spirit At Games

Grub Day for the Dance Band. First Row: J. Garriss, T. Alston, M. Shipton, R. Capers. Second Row: B. Asbury, A. Brunjes, Mr. McAdams, Director R. Fales. Third Row: K. Jewell, L. Boone, T. Ward.

The Pep Band promoted school spirit and enthusiasm at all home games and pep rallies this year. Old style marching uniforms were the attire for the Pep Band that was composed of twenty-one members with seniors in the majority. At the two basketball meets against Hoggard, orange and black was in action and gave the team and students the boost they needed.

First Row: R. Schnell, S. Henderson, F. Fales. Second Row: C. Newkirk, W. McAdams, C. Correale, R. Roberts. Third Row: Mr. McAdams, K. Gruber. Fourth Row: R. John, C. Lee, A. Brunjes.

Outside Activities Stimulate Students

Disc jockeys J. Smith, W. Connette, Leon Roberts, L. Hamner, J. Wright, and B. Asbury study their equipment.

NHHS had its own radio station, WILD, that played music before school and during lunch periods. There were seven disc jockeys with Latham Hamner acting as station manager.

Also the Student Union was the meeting place for the Chess Club every Tuesday, under the Advisorship of James L. Hiatt. In March, the NHHS Chess Club had a tournament with Leland High School.

Alain Ghazal, Jeff Wood, Lynn Keith and Donna Lanier play a game of chess while David Cook, David O'Bryant, Harry Payne, Alan Hill, Eddie Farmer and Jim Cook study their moves.

At a chess club meeting, Jim Cook and Jeff Wood concentrate on their chess game.

Key, Interact, And Civitan Clubs Finance

Representatives from the Key Club, Mark Davis; Interact, David Rouse; and Junior Civitans, Jack Swart, donate over sixty dollars Spencer, Mary Scott, Susan Foreman, and Richard Buffington.

Key Club members kept busy on fund-raising projects, which consisted of two car washes, selling tickets to the Jerry Butler, Gary Puckett, Brooklyn Bridge and B. J. Thomas concerts, selling khaki pants, and collecting a commission on a downtown parking lot during the Christmas holidays. They adopted a foreign orphan, using profits from the khaki sales to support her. Members did their share to boost school spirit by leading an organized cheering section at basketball games and by providing the cheerleaders with carnations.

Warren Sanders, Chris Fonvielle, Henry Nunelee, and Mark Davis represent the Key Club in the Homecoming Parade.

Toddy Fennell tries on a pair of khakis while Carlos Gonzalez, John McCorsely, Jim Wishon, and Bert Singletary think about the transaction.

High I.Q. Bowl Team

As a newcomer among the senior high service club, the Junior Civitans began active participation in campus affairs. They sponsored the Eastern 4A Section wrestling match in January at UNC-W's Hanover Hall. In February the Civitans donated money to assist in sending the High IQ team to the semi-finals in Greensboro.

Keyettes Aid Servicemen By Making Tray Mats

Keyettes have assisted in making tray mats for the disabled servicemen in the hospitals. In February they collected money for the Heart Fund drive at the Hanover and North 17 Shopping Centers. Keyettes brought happiness to members of the Girls' Club by frequently visiting with them, teaching them games, and helping them with their studies.

Keyette members Pam Powell and Willa Gupton sell booster buttons to Harry Payne and Franc Payne.

Mary Huband, Gwynn Stokes, Vicki Smith, Lynda Key, Susan Foreman observe Camilla Herlevich writing a check for the Family Services tutorial program.

Making tray mats at the Red Cross Center for the servicemen are Mary Huband, Becky Weathers, Beth Kelly, Ann Allen, Kathy White, Beverly Sutton, Marilyn Smith, Kathy MacKay, and Ellen Stanley.

Boni Jo Fries, Julie Rehder, and Laura Babb are leaving the Girls' Club after having a Valentine party.

Civinettes Visit Girls' Club

Civinettes took on the arduous task of polishing the sports trophies on display in Brogden Hall. In promoting school spirit, they painted signs for the basketball games. Before Christmas the Civinettes joined with members of the Wilmington Youth Council in repairing toys for six hundred needy children. In addition to having a Valentine's party at the Girls' Club, Civinettes collected money for the Heart Fund.

Cleaning trophies in Brogden Hall are, First Row: Diane Vereen, Pam Jarrell, Mikki Brooks, Diane Dale, Dottie Kelly, and Jan Davis. Second Row: Sherry Malpass, Libby Weaver, Boni Jo Fries, Susan Sneeden, and Betsy Humbles. Standing: Sara Sneeden, Lynn Grissom, and Julie Rehder.

In a rummage sale, Ralph Coley finds a tie, while Mikki Brooks, Mary Nurnberger, and Boni Jo Fries assist Mr. Stout.

Interact Paints Wildcat

Interact men Wally Swink, Mike Merritt, Bill Godwin, and Tim Nifong unpack and try on their Interact jackets.

David Rouse, president, and Franc Payne, treasurer, escort Willa Gupton, club sweetheart, on a tour of the world's largest Rotary emblem.

In their never ending effort to improve school spirit, Interact members Richard Wheeler, Cal Eddens, Ed Ennis, Gary Lancaster, David Pitts, and Billy Gentry sell Sylvia Hedquist a Wildcat pennant.

Interact Club started its year by sponsoring a YMCA membership, mercilessly trouncing the Key Club in a football game, sponsoring a bus to New Bern, painting the Wildcat on the Brogden Hall gym floor, and winning first place with a very original float in the Homecoming parade.

After Christmas, members sponsored a bus to several basketball games, promoted the best kind of school spirit by selling NHHS pennants, unselfishly contributed their time and effort to collecting money for the Heart Fund, and had a car wash with proceeds going to the American Cancer Society. During the Interact houseparty members voted on the recipient of the Interact Scholarship.

John Simon, Walter Futch, Roger Woods, Bob Spencer, Billy Palmer, and quarterback Neill Currie, vice-president, form one powerful segment of the mighty Interact football team which brought the Key Club to its knees.

Originality and technical excellence combined to win the Interact Club the first place award in the Homecoming Parade float contest.

Whether It Is Chemistry,

Lab assistants Richard Dickie, Susan Foreman, Eddie Farmer and Jewel Butler assisted the students each day not only in the lab but also at other times when they needed subject help. Steve Pyles and David Anderson, who had class one period a day, coached in the lab for their extra period. Four of the assistants grew crystals as a hobby in their extra time.

Jewel Butler, lab assistant, teaches a chemistry class.

Kim Herring, Eddie Farmer, Jewel Butler, Steve Pyles, and David Anderson examine their crystals which they grew in their extra time.

Books, Filing Cabinets,

Library assistants—Phillip Smith, Deborah Bradley, Valeria Hill and Melinda Smith—show the Christmas spirit by trimming the enormous tree.

There are twenty library assistants, two of which are COO students. Each assistant works one period a day, and the COO students work three periods a day, doing most of the clerical work necessary for cataloging library materials.

This year the library received several new major items: five thousand books from Williston High School, five hundred newly purchased books, many paperbacks, a new micro-film reader-printer—all of which add not only to the library's stock of supplies but also keep the assistants busy.

Lola McGuire, Keith Hardee, Audrey Powell, Pam Johnson, and Tim Smith listen while Jane Divine explains how the micro-film reader-printer works.

Shelving books to Lem Shipman, Sandra Bell, Jane Divine, Debra Nixon and Emily Blanton is part of their daily job.

On grub day, Williane Carr, Dawn Martin, Jackie Jones and Gwen Robinson browse through the new paperback books which the library received.

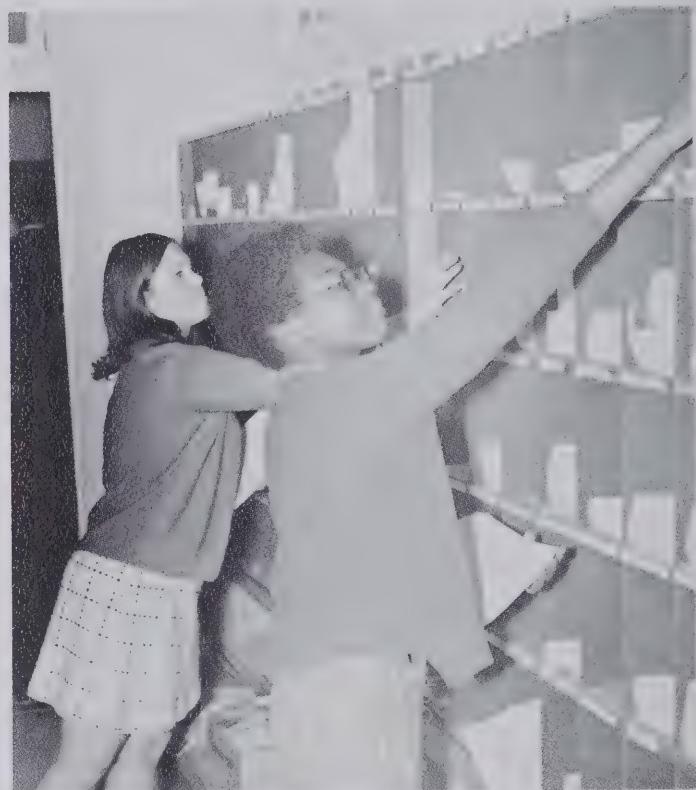

Paper Work, Or

Janet North aids Miss Montgomery in her office.

To keep clear the line of communication involving a student body of 2,200 plus a faculty of 103 and an administrative force of seven, 19 office assistants daily handled numerous details. They worked daily in the registrar's office, Mr. Scott's office and the guidance counselors' offices. Helpful duties performed by them included filing, running errands, taking notices to classrooms and some typing. They became very handy at using the copy machine, cutting stencils for the duplicating and mimeograph machines, and running off bulletins.

Office assistants Barbara InSCO and Nikki Richardson put the daily bulletins in the teachers' boxes.

Alice Brown, Garry Flesher, and Kitty Sutton, work diligently to help keep the office in order.

Children . . . You'll Find Assistants

Every morning the nursery children have a physical check-up made by Mrs. Boone, the school nurse.

During the year the children, with help from the assistants, gave several parties for their families.

On a sunny afternoon the nursery school children, along with the assistants Gennie McLamb, Veronica Becoate, Sandra Davis, Debbie Brown, Martha Hardee, Linda Howard, Linda Nettles, Marilyn Milliken, Shelia Harrell, Bonnie Bullock, Evelyn Hollis, Cynthia Mack, and Yvonne Dutton march in a parade.

Veronica Becoate, Debbie Brown, Marilyn Milliken, and Shelia Harrell enjoy playing with the children while Cynthia Mack teaches a couple how to skate.

At the Christmas party the assistants, working with the children, presented a play.

Sometimes in the mornings when the weather permitted, the class went on nature walks.

With the help of the assistants—Bonnie Bullock, Veronica Becoate, Martha Hardee, Linda Howard, Debbie Brown, Sondra Davis, Shelia Harrell, Gennie McLamb, Yvonne Dutton, Arlene Watkins, Mary Sedelmeyer, Linda Nettles, Darlene Benton, Cynthia Mack—the children have a Christmas party for their families.

Mrs. Christine Boone, the school nurse, gives the children their daily check-up.

FHA Decorates For Nursing Home

Yvonne Dutton, Nancy Wiley, and Beth Dowdy complete their exhibit that won first prize at the Jaycee's County Fair.

This year Future Homemakers were in attendance at the District Rally. Here they held the responsibility of presenting a skit. As an added honor they returned with the state office of Vice-President occupied by Janet Dobo.

Future Homemakers received first prize for entering a rocket with a background of the universe displaying the goals of FHA.

Highlighting the year's activities was the making and delivering of Christmas trees of candy for residents of Grotgen's Nursing Home.

Promoting beautification, members took an active role in planting flowers next to the ramp between the Student Union and the main building.

Janet Dobo, Doris Keels, Gloria Smith, Veronica Becoate, Gloria McMillan, Paula Smith, Jackie Fullard and Cynthia Mack finish props for their skit to be presented at the District Rally.

Veronica Becoate, Janet Dobo, Cynthia Mack, Jackie Fullard, Gloria Smith, Paula Smith and Juanita Richardson discuss various projects for the year.

Rita Ludd, Debra Sidberry, Gail Eddie, Yvonne Osborne, Elsie McCoy, Jackie Powell, Linda Abraham, Azalene Gordon, and Gwendolyn Bell plant tulips by the first floor ramp.

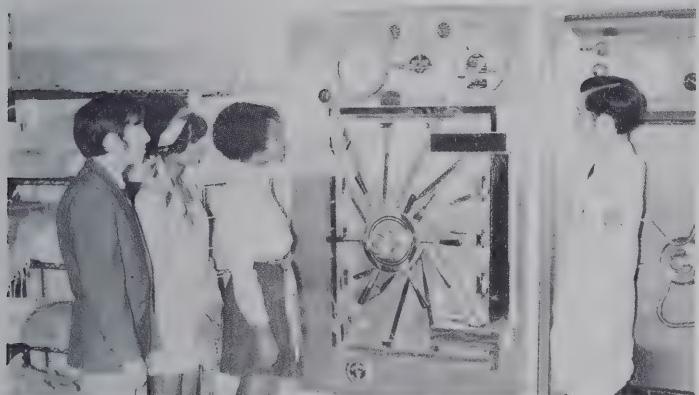

Cassandra Newkirk, Julia Worth, Ellen Sobol and Laura Babb prepare new FTA bulletin board.

Mrs. Ports and Mr. Beane aid Laura Babb, FTA president, in outlining lesson plans.

Trips, Speakers Aid Scientists And Teachers

On tour at New Hanover Memorial Hospital, the sterilizing equipment is explained to Mr. Jernigan, Gail Eddie and Elsie McCoy by Stanley Williamson.

Eight members of the FSA broadened their knowledge by going on field trips to New Hanover Memorial Hospital and to the Marine Bio-Medical Lab on Wrightsville Sound. At the hospital members visited the pharmacy, the blood bank, and the x-ray room. Of special interest to the club members were the operating rooms and the animals used for experiments.

At monthly meetings in FTA members discussed the various angles of the teaching profession. Some of the meetings featured speakers who spoke about the importance and necessity of teaching. In April, members of the club honored the faculty on a Teacher's Day set aside especially in recognition of the faculty.

Occupation Keeps

Cooperative Office Occupation members bring their key business executives to monthly meetings to acquaint club members with what business expects of its employees. Some of the employees who attended the meetings were Robert J. Hurley, manager of WMFD, and Joe E. Dixon, personnel director of the city—both, members of the Advisory Council for COO. A car wash and bake sales brought in enough funds to help a needy family at Christmas.

Vicki Perry, working at Dillard Paper Company, does some office filing.

Sports

Forces of Nature

Constantly make sport
With the waves,
Tossing them about,
Building them up,
Breaking them down.
But Nature always continues her
Incessant pounding,
Whether proud
In victory,
Or sunken
In defeat.

Coaches Evoke Incentive In Athletics

Coach Lynn Clayton is caught in a tense moment, one of many that accompany coaching.

There was only one change in the coaching staff this year. Replacing Ed Miastkowski as the coach of the junior varsity basketball and football teams was Lynn Clayton of Brevard, North Carolina.

The remaining coaches who returned to positions held last year were Toddy Fennell, head varsity basketball; Bill Hardee, baseball, assistant football; George Hardee, head baseball; Pete Crane, assistant football, wrestling, track; Glenn Sasser, head football; Rick Stuart, golf; Rich Henderson, tennis; Alex Weide, soccer; Harry Hale, head wrestling.

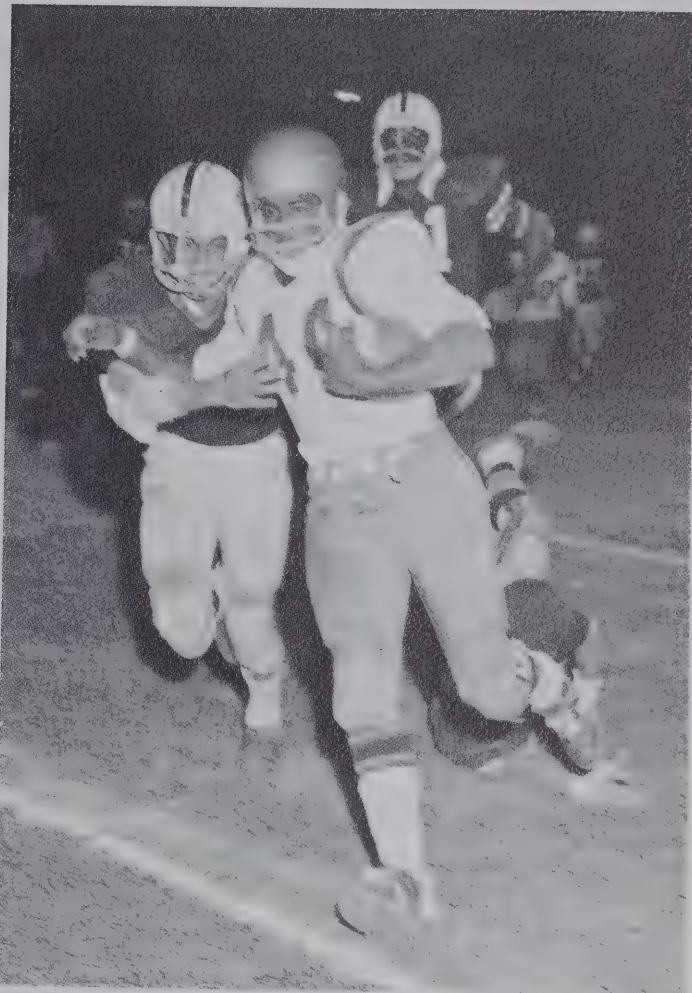

Head basketball coach Toddy Fennell takes an active part in U. S. History, also.

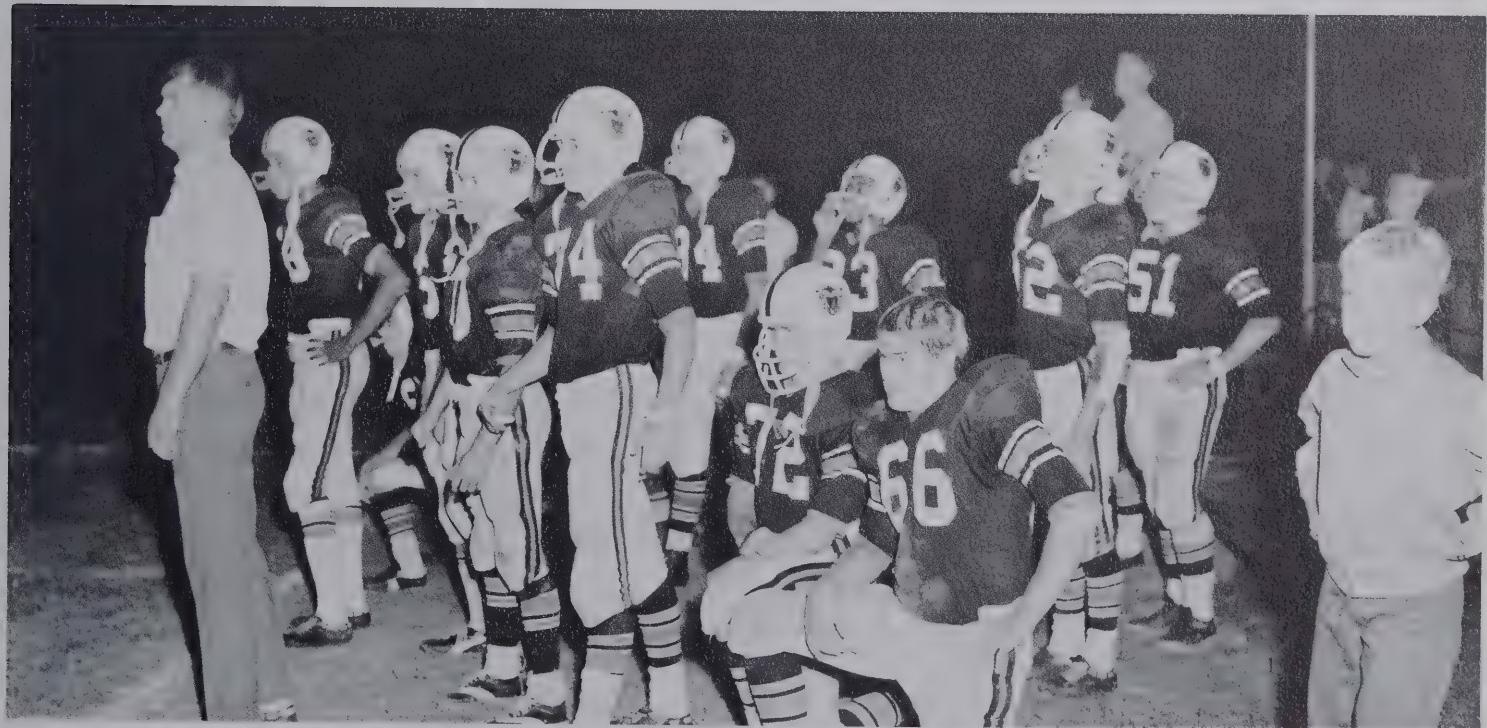

Baseball coach Buck Hardee sighs sympathetically as football coach Glenn Sasser portrays the indescribable look of agony.

'69-'70 Season Advantageous Rebuilding Year

This year's young Wildcat aggregation gained valuable knowledge and experience in turning in an average season. Coach Glenn Sasser's gridders opened the season in a disappointing manner. Being unable to contain Goldsboro's speedy backs or to mount any kind of scoring threat, they went down in defeat to the Cougar's 47-0. Unstifled by this beginning the scrappy young team surprised Rocky Mount by taking advantage of Gryphon miscues, to win by a score of 19-14. Another fast backfield from Jacksonville handed the 'Cats their second loss of the season 28-6. The following week an inability to stop the aerials of Kinston, Grainger, caused New Hanover to lose again 42-6. Their next outing was against crosstown rival Hoggard High School. An inspired Wildcat delegation took the field that night and left with their most satisfying victory of the season. They completely outclassed Hoggard for a 25-6 score. The Wildcats chalked up their third win of the season, and second in a row, by edging Greenville Rose Hill in a very evenly matched contest by one point 29-28. When Fayetteville Reid Ross came to town the Wildcats fell and went down 45-0. After their fourth setback they won their fourth decision in a hard fought battle with New Bern. The defense gained credit for their only shutout of the campaign with a final score of 6-0. At this point the team was 4 and 4 in the won-lost column. The 'Cats unfortunately lost their last two outings to Fayetteville Smith 26-0 and Fayetteville Sanford 20-6.

Gains Valuable Experience

Tim Nifong, 180-pound junior fullback, finished strong to wind up as the leading rusher on offense for the New Hanover High School Wildcat football team this year. The hard-running 5 foot 10 inch fullback who starred on the Wildkitten eleven as a sophomore finished the last two games of the season with a total of 50 yards each to compile an unofficial total of 455 yards for a 10-game average of 45.5 yards. His top game was against Hoggard when he gained 100 yards.

Co-Captain Clifton "Pop" Herring, the senior quarterback was the top 'Cat in scoring for the 1969-70 season. Herring, the 6 foot 1, 170-pound signal caller carried the ball regularly for the Wildcat attack and tallied eight of the club's fifteen touchdowns and passed to Nifong for one more. His best performance was against Greenville Ross when he scored 22 points.

This year, in comparison to last year, the Wildkittens had a very good supply of boys who had experience from playing in junior high school. Almost all of the boys had at least one year of varsity playing under their belts, which they picked up in junior high school. Many of them had more than one year.

When practice started hopes and spirits ran high and the team was rounding out well. Even though all this the Kittens weren't quite ready when the season began, as evidenced by their opening game loss to the Shallotte Varsity. The Wildkittens fought gallantly in the see-saw battle which ended with Shallotte on top 22-18. Next week was the only night the B team's offense didn't click as they lost their second game in a row to a tough Rocky Mount team 6-0. This was the only shutout of the season that the Kittens were on the losing end of. The B squad bounced back to beat Jacksonville for the first time in seven years 6-0. This started the Kittens on an eight-game win streak which lasted the season. In order their wins were: Kinston 48-0, Hoggard 21-0, Goldsboro 18-8, Reid Ross 27-0, New Bern 22-0, E. E. Smith 30-8 and Terry Sanford 26-0.

Soccer Team Cops EC4A Title

The 1969-70 New Hanover High School soccer team experienced its best season yet this year. The soccer squad participated in ten games this season, finishing with a 5-4-1 record. Soccer is a relatively new sport in eastern North Carolina; consequently, the only teams competing for the Eastern 4A crown are New Hanover and Camp Lejeune. The Wildcats copped the Eastern Regional title by defeating the Devil Pups of Camp Lejune twice 3-0 and 1-0, and tying them once, 2-2. New Hanover also participated in the state championships at Buies Creek, bowing to Charlotte's East Mecklenburg squad in the first round.

The team also played soccer teams comprised of men from the ships Schauenburg and Syllum. In the countries where these ships come from, soccer holds the same high esteem that football does in our country. The crew of the Schauenburg handed NHHS two losses, 6-1 and 5-0. The crew of the Syllum did not fare so well, however, dropping a 2-0 decision to the local club. New Hanover also obtained the experience of playing two college teams, UNC-W and Southeastern Community College. At the close of the season, members of the team selected the most valuable players from each class: senior, Walter Futch; junior, Randy Richardson; sophomore, Gregg Raymer.

NHHS Wrestlers Cop First Crown

New Hanover High School pinned down its first Eastern 4A regular season wrestling crown this year. The Wildcat Grapplers compiled an unbeaten record in competition with six Division One teams. The 'Cats were 4-0-1, and suffered only a tie to upstart Hoggard High. Two seniors, Ted Kalnen, 115-pound class and Norman Brooks, 165-pound class, and two juniors, Danny Summers, 107-pound class; and Bubba Smith, unlimited class, proved to be the most consistent performers.

A strong and dedicated spring track team represented New Hanover High School well in its outings this year. The most notable characteristic of the team was its hustle and spirit. The weeks of patient, devoted practice on conformity to grace, form and experience contributed to a strong field delegation where such practices are necessary. A strong field attack placed the team high in most of the meets it entered. This year saw the addition of the pole vault and two-mile events. The track attack was carried more by the longer distances rather than the sprints.

The New Hanover High School basketball team posted a fine 16-6 record this year, but succumbed conference honors to cross-town Hoggard.

The Wildcat squad opened the season this year by once again hosting the Holiday Classic which was held during the Christmas holidays. On Friday night the NHHS team played Greensboro Smith and whipped them 64-49. The following night the Wildcat five surprised Asheville, 68-65. Next, the Wildcats edged Division I foe Jacksonville 58-54 and was upset by non-Division opponent Kinston 66-55. Then the Wildcats traveled to Greensboro to meet Greensboro Grimsley, whom they beat 49-47, and Greensboro Page, whom they lost to 68-42. Returning to the conference, the NHHS club lost a heart-breaker to cross-town rival Hoggard 53-52. Then began the long conference road for the New Hanover team beginning with Goldsboro. The 'Cats downed Goldsboro 78-62; Fayetteville Ross 67-46; New Bern 56-42; Fayetteville Smith 76-59; Fayetteville Sanford 57-49; Jacksonville 75-51; and Kinston Grainger 68-62. Again Hoggard performed the colossal feat of beating NHHS 59-55. New Hanover won its next five games defeating Goldsboro, Fayetteville Ross, New Bern, Fayetteville Smith and Fayetteville Sanford. Closing out the regular season, the New Hanover Wildcats lost to Fayetteville Terry Sanford. In the first round of the Division I tournament, Terry Sanford of Fayetteville foiled NHHS high hopes of going to the state tournament. The 'Cats dropped the contest 46-45, which ended the season.

Season regulars for the Wildcats were Clifton Herring, Thurman Grady, Bill Nemargut, Robert Inman and Ronald Thames.

The New Hanover Junior Varsity basketball team experienced a losing season this year, but the team showed much potential. The 'Kittens posted a 8-10 record, showing great team spirit and losing many games by only a very small margin. A few individuals on the team showed great promise, and the experience gained should give the varsity a fabulous team in 1970-71. The team opened the season with two losses to Bolivia High School, 50-47 and 56-51. A win over Jacksonville 44-37 followed, but then came two more losses, one to Kinston and one to cross-town rival Hoggard. After the loss to Hoggard, the team bounced back with wins over Goldsboro 62-56, and Fayetteville Ross 57-27. Then a loss to New Bern 58-53 followed. Once again, the Kittens bounced back with two wins, one over Jacksonville 57-51, and another over Kinston 57-53. The NHHS team lost the next three out of four, bowing to Hoggard, Goldsboro and Fayetteville Ross, and coming out the victor over New Bern 66-59. The Junior Varsity team finished the season with a loss to Fayetteville Smith 78-69, two wins over the Fayetteville teams of Sanford and Smith 62-50 and 67-63, and finally a loss to Fayetteville Sanford 74-65.

Regular starters for the team were Clifton Wright, Randy Prosser, Lyn Slappy, Swain Smith and Fennell Rogers, with Wright and Prosser being the most consistent scorers.

Lack Of Experience Hurts 1970 Golf Team

The 1970 New Hanover High School golf team looks forward to a fine season this year, although transfers and graduations will hurt the team considerably. Rick Stewart, in his second season as golf coach, sports an overall weak team, but with some good individual play, the team can make a respectable showing. Leading the team is Billy Peterson, a junior golfer who shoots consistently in the seventies. Along with Peterson will be Tommy McKoy, Lenny D'Lugin, and Bobby Lineares.

NHHS Tennis Team Sweeps To

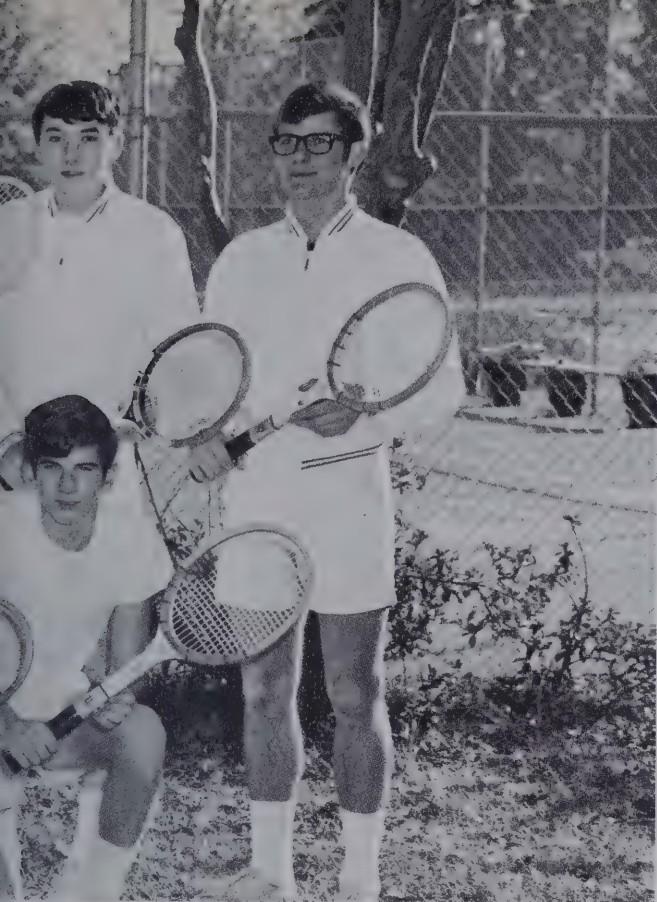

The 1969 Wildcats experienced a fantastic season, claiming the state championship and defeating all high school opponents. The NHHS squad opened the season by defeating arch-rival Burlington twice by the same score 7-2. The Wildcat team faced eleven Eastern 4A opponents and defeated them all, most wins coming via the 9-0 or 8-1 route. This 11-0 record enabled the New Hanover team to cop the regular season title. The team then proceeded to take the sectionals at Goldsboro and then defeated Burlington in the state finals.

The 'Cats played two college teams, UNC at Chapel Hill (freshman) and East Carolina University. The baby Tar Heels defeated New Hanover twice 7-2 and 9-0, but the Wildcats managed to split with ECU, winning one 6-3, and losing one, 5-4. Standouts on the state championship team were captains Joe Murchison and Bill Freyer, and also Ed Warsauer, Herb McKim, Bill Mason and George Currie.

Returning lettermen on this year's squad include Jack Swart (18-5), David Rouse (20-4), Steve Henderson (17-2), and Mike Meshaw (9-0). This year's team looks forward to a good season, which includes matches with UNC at Chapel Hill.

The 1969 Baseball team came close to going all the way again this past year but were beaten in the second round of the state tournament 4-3 by Smith of Greensboro. The Varsity nine opened the season with two victories over the ECU freshmen, 7-1 and 10-4. Before dropping a 9-7 decision to Broughton of Raleigh, the Wildcats won six straight, dropping Fayetteville Sanford 6-1, Wilson 6-1, Goldsboro 10-2, Jacksonville 10-1, East Carolina University 6-1 and cross-town rival Hoggard 4-0. After the loss to Broughton, the Hanover team stomped Rocky Mount 12-0 and Durham 11-1. In their next five games the Cats allowed no runs while racking up forty runs themselves. The team beat Goldsboro 11-0, Hoggard 5-0, Raleigh Enloe 10-0, Wilson 2-0 and Fayetteville Sanford 12-0. The NHHS squad closed out the regular season by walloping Jacksonville 14-3.

In the first round of the state playoffs, the Wildcats beat Page of Greensboro 3-0 before losing in the second round to Smith of Greensboro. With Cecil Reynolds, David Sandlin and Bill Godwin, Coach George Hardee sported one of his best pitching staffs ever. Leading sluggers for the team were Hook Nixon, David Sandlin and Mike Wheeler. The Wildcats finished the season with a very fine 17-2 record.

Ronnie Dove is called safe at home plate after sliding into the unidentified Kinston catcher.

At press time, the 1970 varsity baseball team had won their first seven games straight, and the team looked to be on the road to an unusually good season. Lacking quite the talent the 1969 team had, this year's Wildcats make up for it in team cohesion and sheer effort.

An expression tells the story as this Wildkitten makes his move to second base after diagnosing the play.

1969 'Kittens Post Undefeated Slate

The B team this year had the greatest abundance of talent that it has had in many years. Almost every boy on the team had been playing for at least four years previous to this, for their school and in the summer leagues. Almost every position had tough competition with none ever assuming complete possession of the job. The whole squad had outstanding ability with every boy getting his share of playing time.

Throughout the season the sparkling defensive play allowed fourteen opponents only 29 runs, while the Kitten's heavy bats tallied 131 runs. These statistics as impressive as they are, are not the most fantastic one. The Kittens also posted an undefeated record for the year.

The Kittens started very strong by sinking Leland 15-2 behind a well balanced attack. Then a home and away stint with Swansboro netted the Kittens two more victories, 13-1 and 9-6, respectively. The B team then settled down to good steady ball by first swamping Dixon 7-2. Then they put down Hoggard 6-1 in a good showing. Then they toppled Leland again 14-2. The B team was hardly ever threatened throughout the season as went on through these victories: Topsail 4-1, Goldsboro 5-1, Hoggard 4-3, Topsail 15-2, Goldsboro 6-0, Leland 10-0, Dixon 11-1, and finally Kinston 12-7.

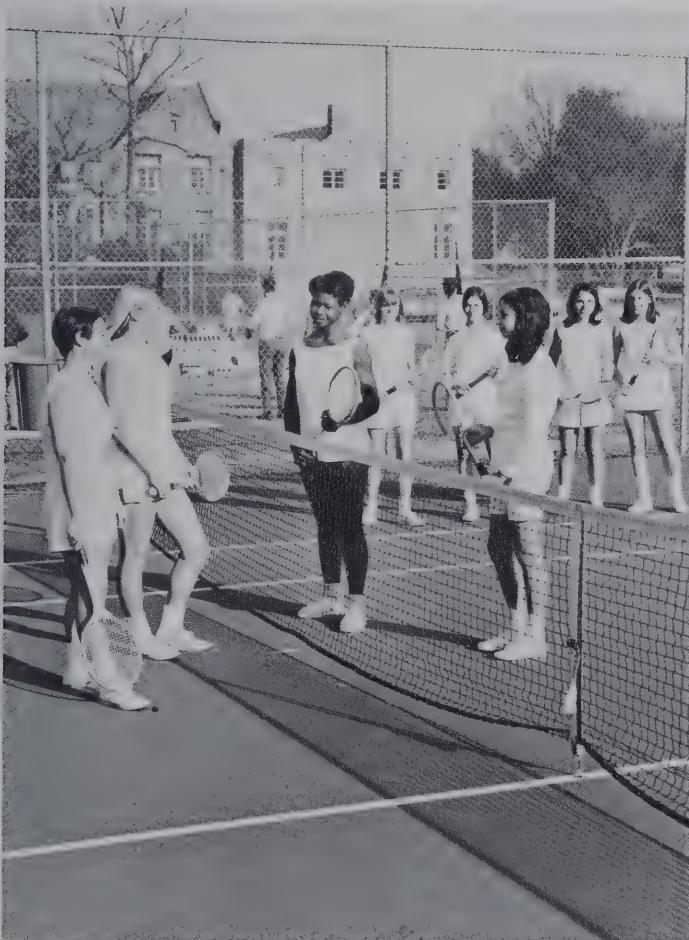

Wildkitten keeps his eye on the ball as he brings his bat around.

Beginning its forty-third year, the ROTC department faced the same major problems of organizing the battalion it had in the past. This year, ROTC had done great additional problem hindering its program—the cutting of battalion formations from two-a-week to one per month. Although company drill had always played a large roll in training the cadets, this year the companies had to do practically all the training.

Company Commanders did nearly all the work in the field while the Battalion Commander and his staff worked mostly in the offices on absentee reports, Officer of the Day Schedules, Honor-Distinguished Cadet reports, and individual files. Even with the drawback of limited formations the Reserve Officers' Training Corps retained the high quality of drill that it has built up through the years. Proof of this could be seen in such parades as the Veterans' Parade, Christmas Parade, and Azalea Parade.

Charlie Company

This year ROTC saw another tradition broken in the cancellation of the presentation of sponsors. Presentation of Sponsors, which usually occurred at one of the home football games, is the official recognition of the girls selected as sponsors by the cadet corps. In ceremonies during the first battalion formation, the Senior Army Instructor, Major George E. Raymond, presented the 1969-70 ROTC Battalion with its sponsors. At various times through the year, school officials requested ROTC to serve during assemblies as ushers and also as an Honor Guard during the visitation of Lieutenant Governor, who spoke at the "Freedom Week" assembly.

Cape Fear Rifles

Cape Fear Rifles an elite, competitive drill platoon spend their free time after school practicing for parades.

Elected by the other members of the drill team to serve as commander is Cadet Captain Wayne Lewis. Acting as his executive officer is Cdt. 1st Lt. Don Spain.

All of the personnel of the drill team are volunteers, and during the Awards Day Ceremonies each spring their commander accepts awards for them. The awards are one ribbon and one medal for each year of service in the Cape Fear Rifles.

At parades and ceremonies, where assembling the Battalion would not be practical, the Cape Fear Rifles represent the ROTC Battalion. As the select section of the ROTC Battalion, the Cape Fear Rifles put on an impressive show wherever they go to represent their battalion and their school.

Rifle Team

Members of the ROTC Rifle Team met every day after school for practice. They competed in the Interscholastic Intercollegiate Postal Match in March, and represented New Hanover High School in a riflery contest with Maxton Military Academy.

Non-Commissioned Officers' Club participated in the preparation of the ROTC Ball by helping with the decorations. The group elected Cdt. SFC William Piver, president; Cdt. M/Sgt. David Simmons, vice-president; and Cdt. SFC Tony Mintz, treasurer.

Officers' Club

Select cadets led by cadet officers aided school officials during Freedom Week visit by Lieutenant Governor Pat Taylor.

Responsibility for making the ROTC Ball a success fell into the able hands of the Officers' Club. A car smash in front of the Student Union helped to raise funds for the occasion. The traditional Officers' Club Breakfast, held at Carmen's Restaurant, followed a magnificent evening at the formal ball. This year's theme centered around the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of ROTC.

Cadet 1st Lt. Ted Kalnen served as president of the group. Cdt. 1st Lt. Daniel Rhodes was his vice-president. Administrative duties were the job of Cdt. Capt. David Cook, secretary, and Cdt. Capt. Daniel Kuebrich, treasurer.

As principal and head administrator, Mr. John J. Scott performs many duties. Among his tasks is the planning of the master schedule. He also relates ideas and suggestions to students, parents and faculty through conferences. He is assisted by Mrs. Jackie Pridgen, his secretary, who also publishes the daily bulletin and compiles the honor roll.

Miss Elizabeth Montgomery and Mr. J. P. Miller are assistant principals. Miss Montgomery handles records, reports and registration. Mr. Miller, who is also dean of boys, supervises buses and disciplinary regulations. Aiding them is Mrs. Marjorie Reid, secretary, who answers the telephone, keeps attendance records, and controls the student check-out book. Mrs. Valli Evans, the supply clerk, operates the bookroom and takes care of class ring payments.

Associate principal is Mr. Fred Capps. When the principal is away, he assumes the responsibilities of the school. He also disciplines students and manages school publicity. Mrs. Joyce Weathers, dean of girls, deals with attendance and discipline problems, clears admission slips, and checks on requests for excusal.

In the registrar's office, Mrs. Reid verifies absences by telephone, confers with an unidentified student in his office.

Mrs. Barbara Stanley, senior guidance counselor; Mrs. Evelyn Doughty, junior guidance counselor; Mrs. Louise Reynolds, sophomore guidance counselor; and Mr. William McClammy, vocational guidance counselor aid students in solving any difficulties they may have. Applications, scholarships, and test scores often confuse prospective college students. The counselors help relieve the anxiety caused by these most frequent problems. Students pursuing a vocational career find the counselors always available to assist them with any problems they encounter.

Guidance counselors also fill out at least 900 transcripts, write 700 letters of recommendations, and prepare follow-up sheets on seniors. In February the sophomore and junior classes meet with the counselors to discuss next year's schedules and future career plans. All four guidance counselors are professionally trained to assist students in all of these situations.

Senior Ellen Sobol consults Mrs. Stanley about information on prospective colleges.

With growing determination sophomore Jacque Williams prepares to meet the guidance counselor for the first time.

Students Perfect Business Techniques

Seven teachers instruct 34 classes in business education this year. Courses for these students range from a one-semester typing course to advanced courses in bookkeeping and shorthand. Business education teaches the students skills which will enable them to find both full-time and part-time jobs. As an additional opportunity, an examiner from the government administers the civil service exam in the spring to interested students. Not only do business courses help in securing employment, but they are also an invaluable aid in personal high school or college work.

Cooperative Office Occupations, a program sponsored by the business department, offers students opportunities to work in offices throughout the city and county. Personnel directors from several businesses come and speak to the classes about future employment. The main topic of their talks is the quality of work expected by the business firms. Many students discover that they can begin work in an office immediately after graduation.

In typing class, junior Sherry Malpass discovers that she must first master the basic skills.

Art 1 students Angela Bannerman and Linda Craven put the final touches on their life size paper-mâché man.

Toothpick sculptures, as Norman Taylor, Don Spain, and Pat Rhodes can testify, are delicate and require a great amount of patience.

Through drawing and painting, first year art students learned basic skills. In Art, the most important subjects which students studied were design, lettering, poster art, and figure drawing. This course included study in art history and art appreciation.

What makes a good design? Art 2 classes learned that repetition, color, line, shape, texture, and movement constituted a good design. The students studied both two and three dimensional designs, using the concept of tone, shade and spectrum. Study of these dimensions provided a deeper penetration of surface in terms of depth and feeling of space. Designs also taught students the value of neutrals.

Students found that pen and ink drawings improved power of line and line relationship. They studied pen and ink from the thematic, mood and technique approach.

Art 3 classes discovered the importance of color schemes. Students worked with water colors which involved the knowledge of tints, shades and spectrums. In Art 3 classes, the students also began painting with oils and studying free hand drawing.

Specialized work increased in Art 4. Students began an in-depth study of techniques in a particular area. Visitors to the art room enthusiastically viewed displays of the different types of work.

The Music Department of New Hanover provided much entertainment for the surrounding area this year. Hanover Singers, under the direction of Mrs. Jane Price, started off the season by singing for the PSTA. At Christmas the Singers sang for many of the civic clubs and the two television stations in and around Wilmington. Many of the advanced singing group participated in State Chorus at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro in April.

The instrumental department took on a new look with the addition of the Stage Band. This group of about fifteen students provided the area with popular music.

In January, nine of the band students went to East Carolina University in Greenville, North Carolina, to audition for the All-State Band Clinic. Those qualifying went back again in February to perform with students from all over North Carolina.

Many of the English faculty this year under the direction of Mrs. Dianne Burton, instructor, spent time discussing the new theory of transformational English. Although the new theory is not officially accepted, these sessions helped teachers plan for the changes to come. This year the English Department had as a total sixty-seven classes being taught each day. Included within this number were two humanities classes and two reading classes. Nineteen teachers made up the English faculty.

The Department also added many new textbooks. Sophomores and juniors received new grammar and literature books. New dictionaries and vocabulary texts supplemented many paper-back novels for the students' personal enjoyment.

Three college students from the University of North Carolina at Wilmington—Mrs. Sue Sellers, Mrs. Elaine Griffith and Miss Elizabeth Barnhill—taught some of the classes as student teachers. Three fifth-year students—Mr. John C. Beane, Miss Linda Elmiger and Miss Frances Fayssoux—worked as teachers for the full school term.

Steve Vallender, David Warshauer, Richard Dickie, and Doug McFayden make good use of the novels offered in Mrs. Geary's English class.

With student participation as a new center point this year, the Foreign Language Department generated much interest. The department gave each student a chance to express his views and opinions more than ever. The students put to great use many mechanical devices. First year students probably the more advanced groups enjoyed the labs. Skits ably used the many tape recorders the most, while short plays made up a big part of the student participation. Small groups of students worked hard presenting their pieces to their classmates. All this in turn made each class far more fun and interesting. This, added to the clubs formed within each language group, provided a year of fun, interest, and learning.

Study Of Bible Furthers Understanding Of Life

Through the Bible classes that New Hanover High School offer, students have the opportunity to take a break from the highly stressed materialistic world. The classes began each day with a devotion read from the Bible by one of the students. Following this, a "trip" back into Biblical times helped the students better know and understand the relation of God and man. Classes taught by Mr. Foss met in Trinity Methodist Church adjacent to the school.

Each of the classes used audio-visual aids more than ever. Guest speakers, among them missionaries from Laos and the Philippine Islands, also added variety to the daily schedule through their first-hand comments on the governments and the economic status of the respective countries. Men from the city police department and from the health and welfare department spoke on subjects pertaining to their fields.

Colonel Grohmann, from the sheriff's department, spoke in January on "The Use and Abuse of Drugs Here in New Hanover County". In giving this report, he used an effective display containing materials taken in arrests made within the county. This presentation brought the problem closer to home.

Of Excellence

The main change seen in the math department this year was in the area of curriculum. Advanced algebra and trigonometry combined to form advanced math. Mrs. Nancy Horton headed this department with ten additional teachers providing consumer math, geometry, algebra, and advanced math courses.

Carl Johnson tackles one of Miss Smith's Algebra 2 problems.

Carolyn Memory and Tommy Woodard add geometric paper ornaments to Mrs. Turner's Christmas tree.

The addition of oceanography this year brought a much wider field of interest and experimentation to the Science Department. Students involved in the course found marine study to be fascinating and much fun. If the weather held out, Mr. John H. Brunjes, the instructor, tried to get down to Wrightsville Beach at least twice a week, usually on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The class met three hours a day.

Mr. Brunjes also taught physics. This course involving the mathematical application of physical science held two classes each day. A total of forty-nine students took physics.

Mrs. Dell Borneman, head of the Science Department and a chemistry teacher, said chemistry classes held many more labs this year. Labs usually met on Wednesdays or Thursdays.

Advanced biology obtained a new teacher this year, Mr. Hal Stout. Although Mr. Stout has been at New Hanover for a number of years, this is the first year he has taught biology. Nearly seventy students filled up the three classes offered in this subject.

These consisted of Home Economics 1, 2, and 3, Foods, Clothing, Child Care Aid, Family Relations, and Home Economics for Special Needs. Five Home Economics teachers taught close to four hundred students who made up a total of fifteen classes. The department, as a whole, stressed consumer education.

Mrs. Jean Gornto was the advisor for the Future Homemakers of America. Although this organization is not officially a part of home economics, its members are usually home economics girls.

Sara Sneeden, a senior at NHHS, won the Betty Crocker Award this year. Each applicant for this award is given a test consisting of material based on what the better-than-average homemaker would know. The award is won by the girl with the highest score.

Department Boosts Job Opportunity

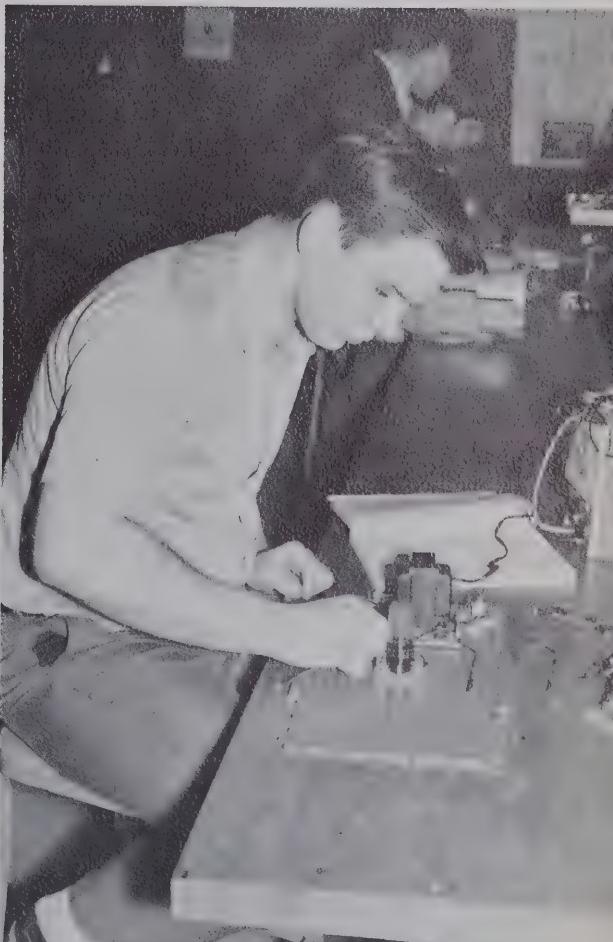

Preparing the student to be the working man of tomorrow is the important task of the Vocational Department. It is a job they have been doing and doing well for fifty years. This year is no exception. Under the leadership of Mr. James Gearhart, department head, a total of seventeen teachers instructed students in many varied skills. Included are auto mechanics, internal combustion engines, construction industries, carpentry, electricity, oceanography, drafting, electronics, machine shop, aero-space industries, health occupations and tailoring. These classes are attended by students not only from New Hanover but also from Hoggard. The Hoggard students journeyed to New Hanover in the morning and returned to Hoggard in the afternoon when their vocational education classes terminated.

Job Training Achieves Ultimate Success

Distributive Education is a two-year educational program for students who have a career interest in retail, wholesale and the service occupations. This year fifty-four students enrolled in this program.

Students attended school for half a day and then worked on jobs the other half. On the job placement is made in keeping with the students interest and ability. In addition to receiving wages for their work, students received grades for both their job and school work.

I. C. T., Industrial Cooperative Training Program, is a cooperative effort by the school, business and industry to provide on the job training for high school juniors and seniors in skilled occupational areas of their choice. I. C. T. improves the quality of school work for the average participant because it increases students' understanding of the practical reasons for completing high school education while obtaining vocational training.

Driving Range Adds To Invaluable Experience

ED MIASTKOWSKI
Driver Education
Lenoir Rhyne College

One of the most important skills that one hopes to develop is driving. New Hanover, as in the past, offered a fine program in Driver's Education. Two Instructors, Mr. Ed Miastkowski and Mr. Wally Piner, taught both facets of driver education, the first being classroom study. This period of training lasts eight weeks during which time the students learn the rules of the road and also develop a better understanding of the basic skills involved in driving. The classroom study is followed by twenty hours of driving experience at which time the students "take the wheel". This part of the training was enhanced this year by the opening of a driving range, located near Hoggard in which students maneuver radio-equipped cars through numerous obstacles.

New Hanover High School offers three courses in ROTC. During the first year of ROTC, students familiarize themselves with basic rules, customs and courtesies of the military. They learn how to clean and care for equipment, and they participate in drills, reviews, and military parades.

Study in military organization and leadership continues into the second year of ROTC. Map reading, the use of the compass, and small unit tactics are among the more specific studies that students take.

In ROTC 3, students learn teaching techniques and then apply them in a practice classroom session. Students become involved in learning about branches of the Army and about military service opportunities.

Besides classroom work and military drill, there are smaller specific groups in ROTC such as the Drum and Bugle Corps, the Cape Fear Rifles, the Officers' Club and the Color Guard.

Cdt. Capt. Jeff Plummer conducts an experimental classroom session about weapons.

Major Raymond discusses different medals and ribbons with Cdt. Lt. Hartford Boykin.

MR. HENRY VANN

As is the case in any successful operation, there are those behind the scenes who keep everything in working order. New Hanover is no exception. Mrs. Christine Boone, Mrs. Hazel Warner, and Mr. Henry Vann provided New Hanover with three major services. As School nurse, Mrs. Christine Boone took charge of the infirmary, where an average of sixty people found help every day. Mrs. Boone enlisted the services of students to help her through her busy day.

Mrs. Hazel Warner, cafeteria manager, had the task of preparing food for one-fourth of the student body.

Mr. Henry Vann headed a corps of janitorial assistants who in two shifts of workers kept the school clean and all appliances in working order.

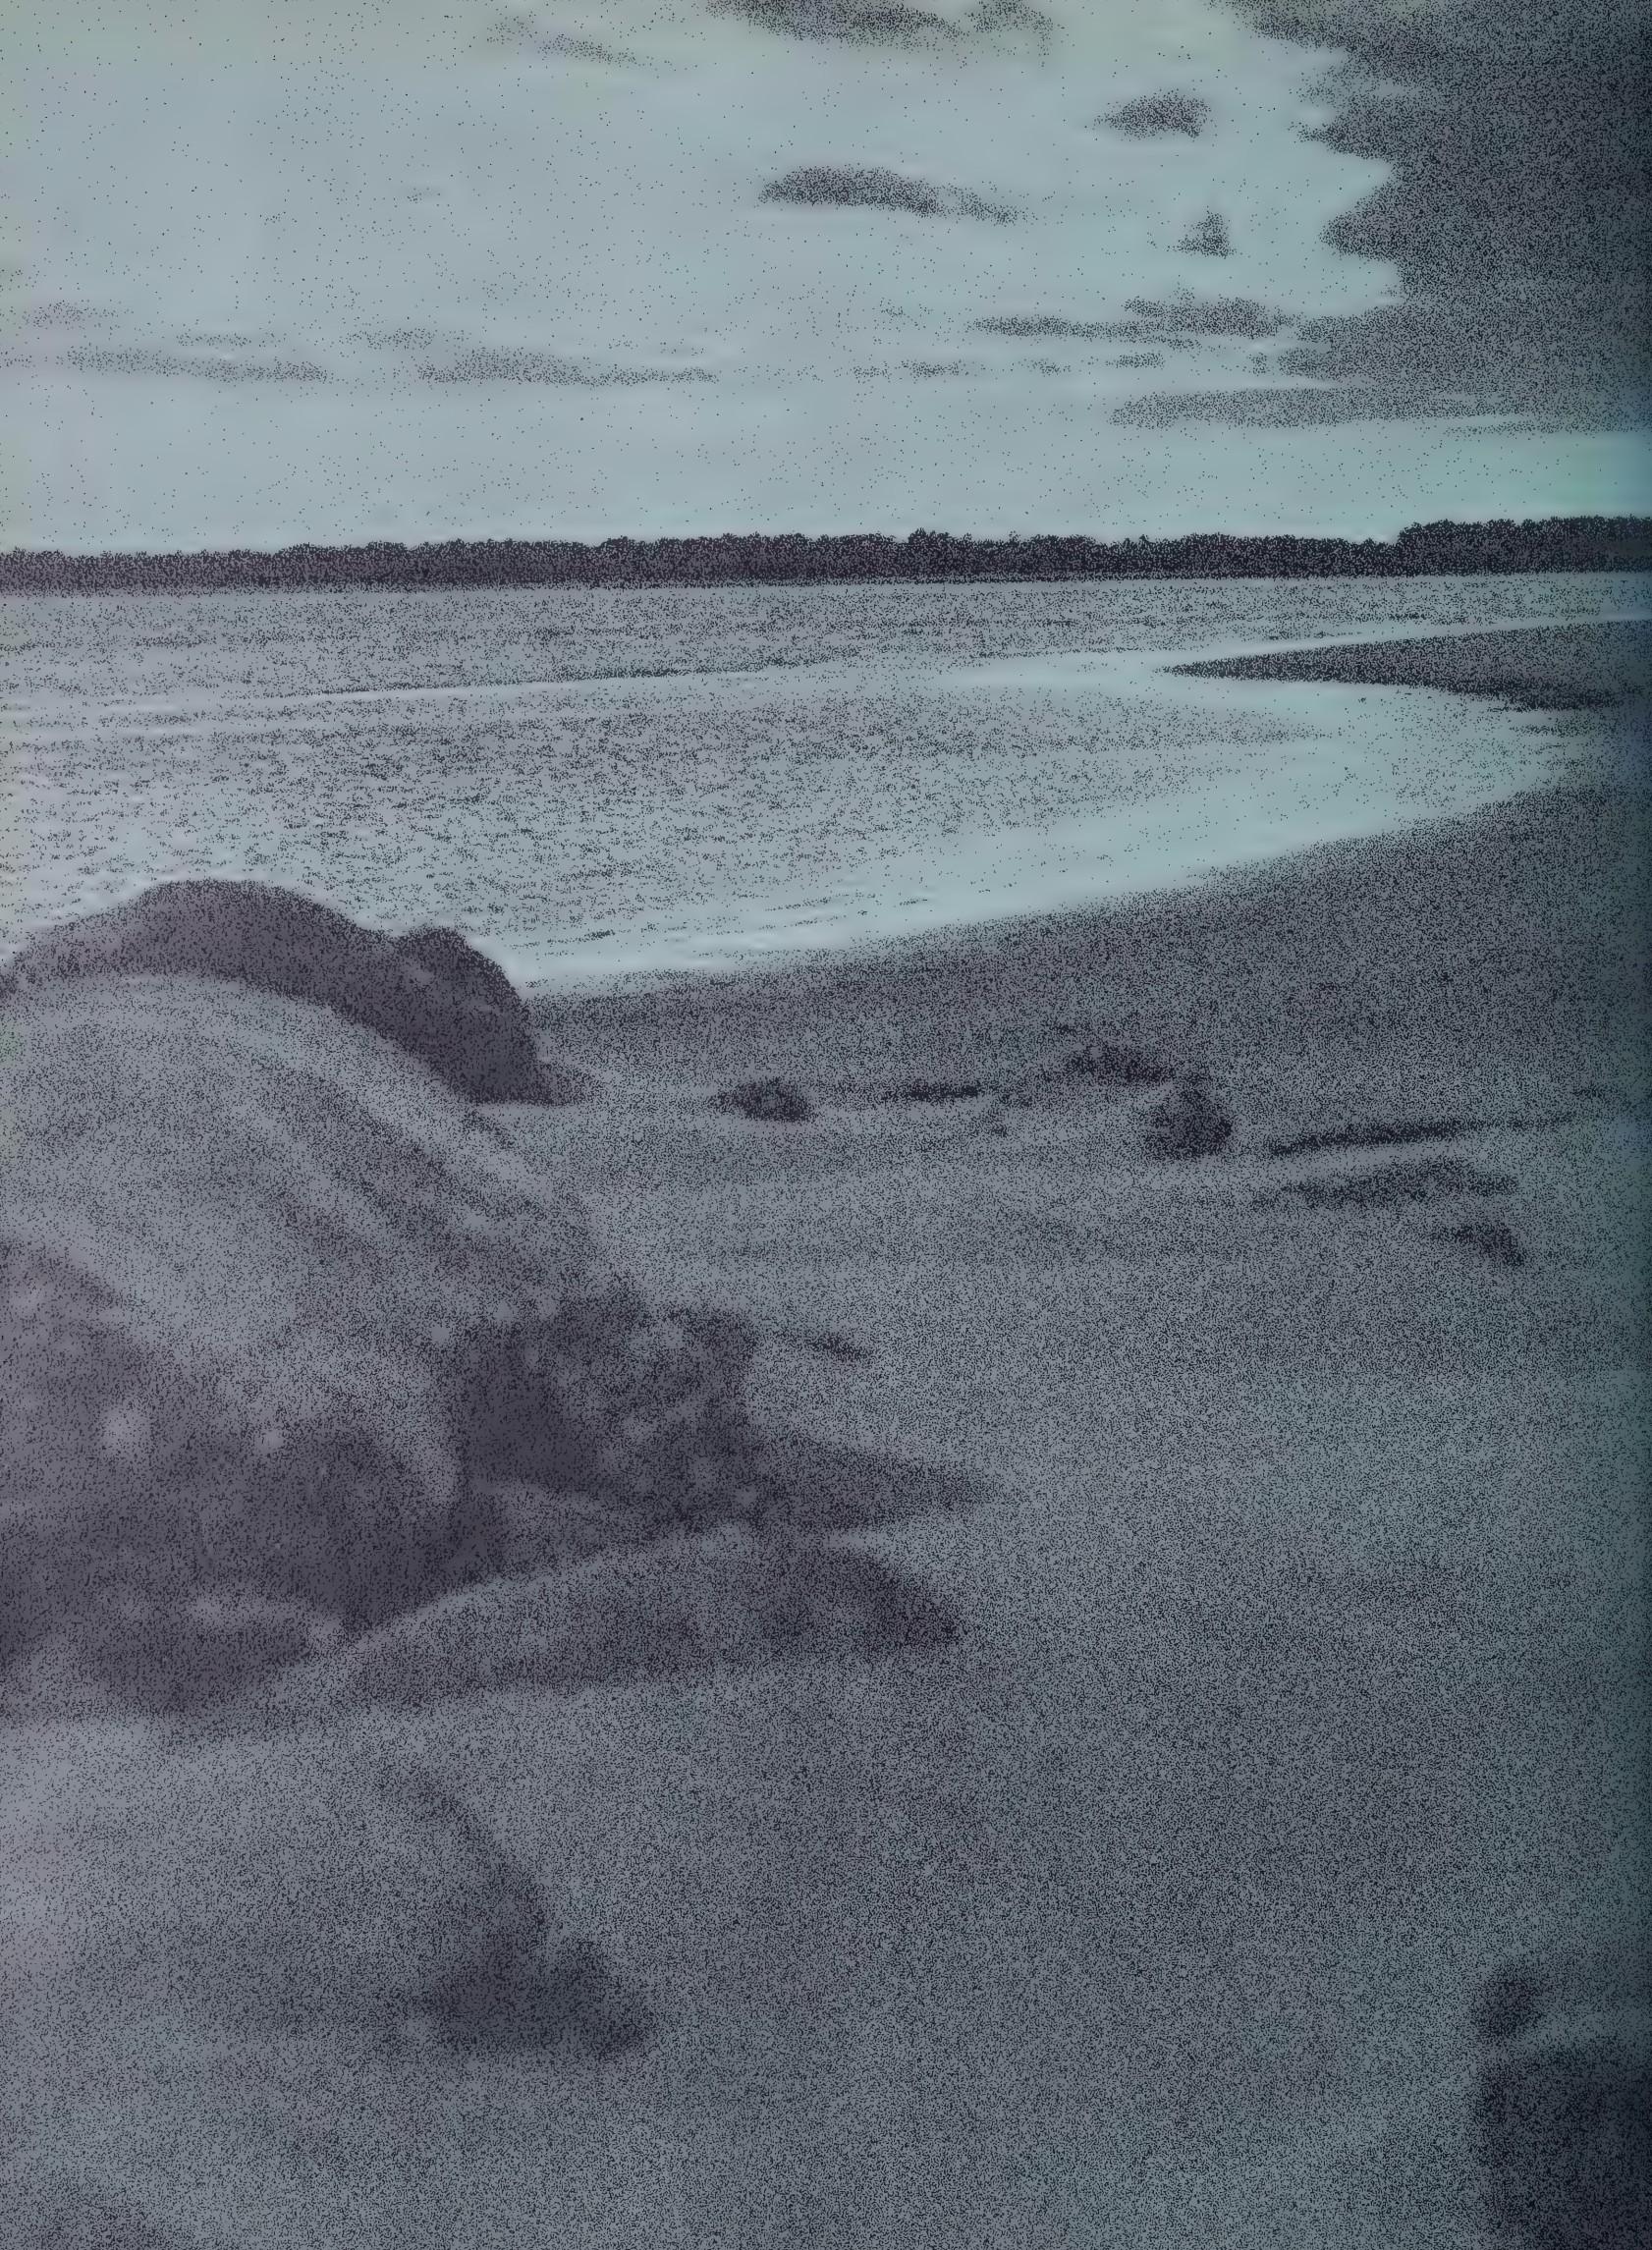

Mrs. Hazel Warner aids in the daily preparation of food in the cafeteria.

Mr. Henry Vann picks up some trash left by a thoughtless student.

Using Debbie Madliger as a patient, Mrs. Boone demonstrates proper bandaging.

A dark, grainy photograph of a beach or coastal area. The foreground is dominated by dark, textured sand. In the middle ground, white-capped waves break onto the shore. The background shows a hilly landscape under a cloudy sky.

Mrs. Lane,

Journalism has been a blast! I've really enjoyed it. And we did manage (somehow) to get the Wildcat out (more or less) on time. Good luck next year with the new crew - let's just see them do a better job than we did.

Dear Mrs Lane,

DIANE LEE, president

MESA BRYANT, secretary

I have never enjoyed or been more interested in a class than this class this year. You have been such a great JUNIORS inspiration to me and gave me confidence that I needed so often and much. I know will work as hard as I ever had for the WILDCAT next year because I love journalism (thanks to you making it so wonderful & fun) and because you have given and I say for you some people (administration etc) are so hard to work with that its almost like a battle, well you have made all my extra curricular (try to learn to spell for you) so easy that anything the junior class ever accomplished I know it was a great deal because of your understanding, I hope I never took advantage of it and if I did I have learned a lesson not to ever again because of your honesty, with me.

Please stay as enthusiastic and pleasant always with the students and I have no doubt in my mind that the people who walk from this classroom will have learned something I have probably more than ever chance in one class and it was ~~at~~ ^{at} more than journalistic perhaps the most active and the most challenging is the junior year. Having gained some high school experience, the junior now feels a sense of assurance. Focusing his attention on academics as well as social activities, he is constantly ~~on~~ ^{on} the go. The junior takes the PSAT and initiates himself to the rigors of college board tests.

Then, as excitingly ~~it began~~ ^{it began} the junior year ends. Looking back, the junior pauses and takes time to reflect on the events of the year. He relinquishes his junior status and anticipates his senior year as a member of the class of '71.

To the Senior graduation is but a beginning. Long hours of studying and play gradually come to an end, leaving him with many rapturous and sorrowful memories. From the overwhelming shouts of the "Victory Battle Cry" to the winning of the "Pride Chain Contest" the seniors retain Class unity. Through a haze of graduation memories, football games, dances, along with academic and classroom activities take their places. These memories however, accompany the senior as he moves by graduation into a future of his own.

Mr. Weide, soccer coach, presents letters to Bob Spencer, Harry Payne, Walter Futch, Wendy Joy, and Richard Dickie.

Me Land,
I'll have a garden
and live long in the land. Then I will come to you and you will come
and live in my land.
Then we will be fast friends.

Friend (signed)

Mrs. Lane
You have showed me how to learn and enjoy learning at the same time. Thank you for all the patience you have given me & the rest of us.
You have another class like ours
here English
Good bye

With love,
My favorite English
teacher. Good wishes
from your best student.
Al Brown
Class of 1970

Silently once more the Sea calmly waits,
Clothed in a quiet
Peace,
Her fate in control of but
One.
It seems
She is destined to
Flow in one pattern of Life
Eternally
But the Sea will Forever change—
Change

Is inevitable.

Mrs. Lane
It has come ~~this~~ ^{really enjoyed} ~~you~~ ^{you} ~~class~~ ^{time of the year when} ~~every~~ ^{senior} boy and girl has reached the top of the ladder. It is a happy moment but is also a sad one. It is sad because you have to leave the most favorite teacher. You will always be the most favorite in my heart. (Keep sweet) Larue

Early morning on Greenfield Lake brings a rare peace and solitude.

10. Mrs. Jane
I have enjoyed being in your English class this year. You are a nice lady.
And I hope that you continue
the good work.
Have a nice summer.

Dear Mrs. Jane,

I have so much to say, but I just can't. These years have been good to me and I don't think I could have ever gotten through them without having you around. You really put up with a lot of stuff from me, I hope you're over it by now.

Being in journalism has really helped me because I've learned so much. And you have helped me so much, listening to my sad stories, putting up with my temper and bad mouth. I've had a lot of teachers, but I can truthfully say you are the only one I really felt liked me for myself.

May the years be good to you and I give my love and the only best of wishes to come true for you and your family. Try to remember the good, carefree days we had cause I know I will never forget them or you.

Love Always,
Susan

Class of 70' 6/2/70

Mrs. Lane,

I have greatly enjoyed being in your English class this year. I will always remember you as my favorite teacher and one of my best friends. I have really learned a lot from you this year and hope you will continue to do the great job you are doing right now in teaching senior English. I will drop by and see you sometime when I'm at home. Best of luck always!

Love,

Steve Bridges

To one of the sweetest teachers ever made! Stay
sweet as you are,
and keep passing
everyone next year!
See ya now I will!
You Be Good!

Dear Mrs. Lane,
The ideal teacher & friend
I've never had so much fun and learned so much in school before as I have these past two years in journalism.

I really have enjoyed everything in this class,
and I just hope you will be able to put up with me next year.
Best of Luck,

Jody

P.S.

I've never had a teacher and friend that were both at the same time,
It's nice!

Brief and pleasant write
I hope it's for you, with love from your friend and best wishes for your health and success in all your work.

Very well

Mrs. Lane,

Well, two years one to go! Maybe by this time next year we'll be out of the hole completely! Sure hope so.

If I can't write anything dirty, I don't guess I'll write anything at all. I sure do appreciate all the times you've lent me your cars & your money!

And if you're reading C.B. I love you too!! Don't forget to call me to baby-sit when you get hard up!

Luv ya,
Joan Stewart

Dear Mrs. Lane,

Well, after these three years I really don't know where to begin. You've been so great to me & I will always thank you for that. When I think back, I don't know how I would ever have gotten through high school without you. Remember all those deadline days, the hundreds of notes you have written me, the conferences with Mr. Scott, the jokes, & of course the annual journalism party - I guess there is something I really will miss next year. I plan to see a lot of you this summer & in the following years, so it's not really a final good-bye. Keep yoursse calm personality & maybe you'll get through the next few years without any gray hairs. I know this all sounds very trite, but if you won't show it to the judges, maybe they will let me keep the Golden Star. Thanks for everything Mrs. Lane,

For Reference

Not to be taken from this room

(Just think, if that day when I walked in to this room 2 yrs. ago you had just listened to your better senses, . . . !)

Mrs. Lane,

Mrs. Lane, I
Thanks for not being "so" hard on us.
I enjoyed it. Don't let the noise back to you. I'll never forget you and the Wildcat. You are a great teacher and
a wonderful person.

After two years of Journalism I am finally leaving NHH, but I'll never forget you
and the Wildcat. You are a great teacher and
a wonderful person.
Thank you for everything. If you come to Raleigh next year come by State to see me. I'll come back next year to visit.

Mrs. Lane,
It has really been great being in your class this year. I hope we have had Class of '70
you to many more aches this year.
You will have a wonderful summer
and a great year
next year. We'll meet
Come back OK.
Next year our former luck stay

Mrs. Lane - Thanks for being a great teacher & friend, Have fun!
